MORTALITY.

(WRITTEN FOR THE JANEVILLE GAZETTE.)
How do the roses die?
Do their leaves fall together,
Thrown down and scattered by the sky
Of angry weather?
No, the and the dandelion flower,
O'ersteps their lovely brother,
The storm that ripples on the oak,
Relents above the flower.

No violence makes them groan,
No wrath hath done them wrong,
When with sad accents they leave
The branch to which they cling,
They yield them one by one,
To the light breeze and shower,
To the soft dew, cool shade, bright sun,
Time and hour.

Marshall Hogan had his new patrol wagon out on Saturday evening, and a number of citizens, including several ladies, were given a ride. Later in the evening the marshal picked up a "drunk" on the west side and took him to jail, being the first regular service.

Yesterday's Recorder, with somewhat thickened utterance, editorially says: "Next in line, too, is the city marshal's new patrol wagon, which is a fine piece of workmanship in every particular."

Again we go upon record in favor of water works. We need cooling drinks.

Nearly all of the bids for the putting on the roof at the First ward school building have been received, and it is probable that work soon will be commenced. The roof is to be of re-dipped tin plates, which, though more expensive, are considered rather more durable than the other roofing materials.

On Friday two alarms of fire were "turned in" at Rockford within five minutes, calling the department in different directions. This was the first time in the history of that city. For some time the fire marshal has held one of his three companies in reserve for just such emergencies, and the second alarm was as promptly answered as the first, but with less apparatus.

The excursion train for Milwaukee on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, which passed through this city at eight o'clock yesterday morning, consisted of fourteen passenger coaches, a baggage car and two locomotives. The cars were all well filled on reaching Milwaukee, a few minutes before eleven o'clock. The train made fast time between stations, at times running at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Returning, the train left Milwaukee at midnight and reached Janesville at ten minutes to three o'clock this morning.

The heavy rain storm east of this city did very little if any good this side of Waubesa. At one o'clock this morning, while the excursionists were waiting at that point, a heavy rain was falling, coming from off the lakes. Heavy clouds were floating all day, but only occasionally and in narrow limits has there been rainfall. Grass, especially upon high lands, is all dead, and in many places along the railways the grass has been set on fire by passing locomotives.

and the ground burned over. Stock cannot find grass and many farmers are feeding as it is in mid winter.

Tickets for round trip 25 cents; can be procured of Palmer & Stevens, F. Sherer, E. J. Kent and at the dock. Children of members and of their friends free. It is desirable that as many as can make it convenient will go by the morning boat to avoid overcrowding.

Belot Free Press: We understand that the Eclipse company have secured the contract of constructing fifteen steam water stations for a western division of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company. This is an extensive job, and in connection with other work will keep the wood department of the shops busy for a long time to come.

Porter Cole is just one of the very finest men in the world for the searsher after news to run against. This morning, when asked if there was any news down at the Milwaukee depot, instead of saying "New" and looking "D—n" as most railroad men do, he smiled a sweet, genuine smile and without a bit of hesitation or mental reservation of mind replied: "Oh, a little. The railroad came on in time this morning, and the conductor has a call! Good Cole! May your Porter never run dry."

STILL A MYSTERY.

One week has passed since the search for the murderer of the late Mayor of Milwaukee, without the discovery of any clue to the perpetrator.

It was one week ago yesterday since the search for the murderer of the late Mayor of Milwaukee, without the discovery of any clue to the perpetrator.

Through the gates or down the lane that led from the railroad, and from then until evening there were visitors around the place all the time. They would come, look through into the stall in the barn where the old man's remains were found, gaze in at the dining room window and stand and point out to each other just where Mr. Search might have stood when she was shot; and then in undertones they would talk over the different theories brought out by the investigations.

This morning young Moore's trunk arrived from Chicago.

The sheriff, District Attorney Malone and Attorney E. M. Meyer then made a thorough search, but found nothing among its contents that looked in the least suspicious. It is probable that Moore will be released to-morrow unless something new turns up.

He has been thrown out of a job in Chicago, and after spending several days in jail will go back to that city without anything to show for it unless the sheriff gives him ten dollars out of his own pocket as he spoke of doing to-day. This evening the officers will go to Milton and look through Anderson's and Hall's trunks. It is probable that both of these young men will also be released before long.

PERSONAL.

W. G. Wheelock is now in Minneapolis on business that will take him about a week. After that he expects to go to Madison and spend a short time at the Sunday school assembly.

This evening F. S. Winstow will start to Oshkosh to make the arrangements for opening a grocery in that city. He has been buying a team of horses and a delivery wagon, and expects to open up his establishment about Thursday of this week.

Messrs. Wm. Burdick, J. Doran, and D. McGinley, of the Eau Claire base ball nine, all Janesville boys, were in the city yesterday.

The Eau Claire nine is "tied" for second place in the Northwestern league, with the Oshkosh club, and is rapidly going to the front.

Partly cloudy with east wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 63 and 56 degrees above zero.

Universal praise is awarded to Fairbank's soap for its excellence in every particular.

THE TIME TO ADVERTISE.

A Very Irresponsible Statement is Sometimes Sustained.

It is a common expression of merchants that "business is so dull it will not pay to advertise." What would we think of the workman, who, when work is scarce, would not try all the harder to find it? An exchange says very truly that the duty of the merchant or manufacturer at such times is to create business by offering new and attractive styles, by seeking new customers, and publishing beyond usual neighborhood limits. He should not sit down and wait for trade to come to him, but seek it on every side and through the use of every lawful instrumentality.

When trade is dull a more active exertion must be made to secure it than when business is brisk. When times are dull and money plenty it requires but little effort to sell goods. There is not so much need of advertising at such times.

The test of business ability is shown in periods of depression, when nerve, pluck and energy win the day. The bold, aggressive merchant then comes to the front, and while the great majority of dealers are timidly hesitating, he uses the columns of the newspapers, and to great advantage. By this policy he turns the retreat of others into a victory for himself, he attracts public notice and draws trade from every quarter.

New advertisements attract far more attention in a stagnant market than when trade is at full tide. They indicate life and spirit in the midst of depression. They catch the public eye and win new support. Shrewd merchants always advertise most in such periods.

The present is a good opportunity to try the experiment. Business is dull in midsummer and you have the goods to sell. Let the public know it through the columns of an influential journal and your wares will soon find a market.
